Overview

After working in the law industry for 20+ years, I was looking for a firm whose mission and purpose contributes positively to society and Klein Hornig fit that bill. Klein Hornig's pursuit to develop and preserve affordable housing and to revitalize communities makes me proud to work with a team of talented individuals striving to accomplish that mission.

Michael Atienza utilizes proven experience to assist and manage in all facets of finance and accounting. As the Accounting Manager, he is responsible for reconciling account balances and bank statements, closing the firm's books at month- and year-end and assisting the Controller with the preparation and timely delivery of accurate financial statements. He also combines his organization and analyzing skills to review practices and procedures of the Accounting Department to recommend improvements.

No decisions should ever be made without asking the question, is this for the common good?
