Overview

Passionate about making a positive impact, I was drawn to Klein Hornig for its dedication to affordable housing and community development initiatives. I take pride in working for a mission-driven firm that aligns with my values ensuring financial accuracy that supports meaningful legal service.

Nadia Ayyad is a seasoned accounting professional with over ten years of experience in law firm accounting. Before joining Klein Hornig, Nadia held key accounting roles where she developed expertise in financial operations, including accounts payable and receivable, billing, payroll, bank reconciliation, and financial statement preparation. Her strong analytical skills and attention to detail allow her to manage financial processes with accuracy and efficiency.

Nadia earned her bachelor's degree in accounting from George Mason University, which provided her a solid foundation in financial management and problem-solving. She is known for her ability to streamline accounting procedure and support the firm's financial health through strategic decision-making.

“ Accounting greatness is not just about what you calculate; it's about the financial stories you unfold.
